The diagram illustrates the layout of a decal square. It features three concentric rectangular lines: an innermost green line, a middle red line, and an outermost blue line. Three horizontal double-headed arrows are positioned below the text to indicate the width of each line type: a green arrow for the green line, a red arrow for the red line, and a blue arrow for the blue line. The green arrow is the narrowest, the red arrow is wider, and the blue arrow is the widest, extending to the very edges of the page.
